Professional Biographical Synopsis
Of
Tyrone C. Black

Tyrone C. Black, a native of Hartford, Connecticut, is a graduate of Westminster School in Simsbury, Connecticut. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, his Master of Science degree in Education (Language Arts) from the University of New Haven in West Haven, Connecticut, and his Ed.D in Higher Education Administration and Organizational Change from Benedictine University in Lisle, Illinois. His Dissertation topic is A Phenomenological Study: The Exploration of Students' Faith, Spirituality and Engagement While Attending a Medium-Sized Jesuit University in New England.

Tyrone has 30 years of classroom and administrative experience in both secondary and higher education. He worked as an admissions counselor and coordinator for multicultural recruitment for Roger Williams University in Bristol, Rhode Island. He then moved on and became the Associate Director of Admissions at the University of New Haven. Tyrone then worked as an Executive Recruiter /Associate for the Huntington Group which is an Executive Retained Search Firm in Trumbull, Connecticut. Staying true to his educational roots, Tyrone returned to the field of education and became the Director of College Counseling at Cheshire Academy in Cheshire, Connecticut. From 2001-2005, he served in this capacity until he accepted a position at Quinnipiac University as the Director of Multicultural Affairs for the university. After four years of working in Student Affairs, Tyrone returned back to Cheshire Academy in 2009 as the Director of College Counseling. In 2012, he accepted a position as the Coordinator of Dual Enrollment at Goodwin College, and in January of 2014 he was promoted to Director of Early College Programs. In 2014, Tyrone joined Wooster School in Danbury, Connecticut as the Director of College Guidance. He was then promoted to Head of Middle and Upper Schools and Director of Student Advancement. In 2019, Tyrone rejoined the Goodwin University community as the Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students. He is presently the Associate Head of School at Tabor Academy in Marion, Massachusetts.

Beyond his responsibilities at Tabor, Tyrone travels nationally conducting multicultural workshops and seminars. He is a former member on the Board of Directors for Hartford City Mission, an organization that operates after-school and summer character-based programs for children and youth throughout North Hartford. Tyrone is a former member of the Board of Directors for Journey Home which is a not-for Profit Corporation partnering with the community to implement the Capital Region's (Hartford County) Ten Year Plan to End Homelessness. He also served on the Admissions Counselor Advisory Board at Miami University of Ohio, Queens University of Charlotte, North Carolina, and Westminster College in New Wilmington, PA. He is the CEO and Owner of T. Carlton Educational Consulting, LLC through which he provides college counseling to clients both domestically and internationally, as well as cultural sensitivity training for educational organizations. He is a spirited leader who believes that every person has a purpose.
